The warmth of the exposed brick accent wall, railing, artwork, and dresser fill the space with character and history for a smooth balance. Shop this shade below:BUY NOW Farrow & Ball Cromarty, $110 2 of 35 Black Chalk Paint This entryway designed by Garrow Kedigian is whimsical yet elegant, thanks to the drawn-on moldings. Matte black walk paint gives the space a moody, intimate atmosphere to contrast the more playful elements for a balanced whole. BUY NOW Annie Sloan Black Chalk Paint, $43 3 of 35 Neon Pink Intense, eye-catching, and adventurous, the neon pink walls in this townhouse designed by Jonathan Berger make quite the first impression. Use it in a foyer for a warm, welcoming, impossible-to-forget entrance, or to embolden a lackluster hallway.Shop a similar shade below:BUY NOW Benjamin Moore Peony, $45 4 of 35 High-Gloss Chartreuse These high-gloss green walls in a hallway designed by Christina Murphy are such a fun surprise and make an otherwise boring transitional space feel fun. Shop a similar shade below:BUY NOW Behr High-Gloss Sparkling Apple, $34 5 of 35 Gray-Brown Kim Alexandruik's motto is to "go for impact." Use it as an opportunity to play with unusual seating and colorful artwork that may be harder to integrate into other rooms. Her color of choice is a "putty-colored gray, with a hint of pink and lavender. Not too light, so it doesn't go vapid," says Aleandruik. Use this hallway designed by Mally Skok as inspiration.Shop a similar shade below:BUY NOW Farrow & Ball Elephant's Breath 229, $110 6 of 35 Plum The plum cabinetry in this mudroom designed by Whitney Parkinson gives the area a calming presence. When paired with wicker baskets and brown tiled flooring, it's even more earthy and homey.Shop a similar shade below:BUY NOW Farrow & Ball Brinjal 222, $110 7 of 35 Red and Lavender If you're feeling adventurous, color-block with two bold shades. Follow this living room by Katie Brown as an example, using the fresh color combination of fire engine red and violet in this space. And see how the pillows tie everything together so nicely? That's another great way to approach the living room design process: Start with a fun pair of throw pillows and then pull out your two favorite colors to highlight on the walls and ceiling.Shop a similar shade below:BUY NOW Benjamin Moore Exotic Fuschia, $80 8 of 35 Dutch Blue Game rooms should be fun, so don't shy away from color! Designer and homeowner Fitz Pullins opted for a bold blue that's perfect for both daytime fun and dressier evenings. That neon light in the corner is a nice touch, too. Shop a similar shade below: BUY NOW Benjamin Moore Washington Blue, $47 9 of 35 Pale Green When you want a light neutral but find white too stark and beige too boring, opt for a super pale shade of green. Green-infused grays will feel like a breath of fresh air and adds just the right touch of intrigue as a backdrop for the gallery wall in this living room designed by Tamsin Johnson. Shop a similar shade below:BUY NOW Farrow & Ball Mizzle, $110 10 of 35 Sky Blue The artwork in this living room designed by Kingston Lafferty truly comes to life when paired with the color-blocked ceiling, walls, and fireplace, the sputnik light, and patterned chairs. In fact, the space itself is like a work of art. To replicate this look, opt for a lighter shade of blue on the largest section of the wall and then a more saturated shade of blue on a small piece, like a fireplace. Shop a similar shade below:BUY NOW Benjamin Moore Waterloo, $80 11 of 35 Sage Green No color creates a soothing atmosphere quite like sage green. Use it in your living room or in a library, as designer Melanie Turner did here in a historic Atlanta home's scrapbook-filled study. Paired with cozy seating of a similar color and a fireplace, the space makes for an ideal nook to sit down and get lost in a book.BUY NOW Farrow & Ball Calke Green, $110 12 of 35 Violet Hand-painted murals can mimic the effect of wallpaper by introducing a story and pattern. But it's also safer inn splash zones like the kitchen, where wallpaper may feel a little more risky for some. Here, the lavender swirls of paint on a buttercream backdrop complement the elaborate blue chandelier, too. Then the classic, neutral cabinets and island ground the space.Shop a similar shade of purple paint below:BUY NOW Glidden Violet Shimmer, $23 13 of 35 Flat Black In this midcentury Hudson Valley home, GRT Architects painted all the walls and windows a low gloss black to foreground the view and accentuate the large windows. The inky tone also helps contemporize and dress up the family kitchen.Shop a similar shade: BUY NOW Portola Paints Ultra Flat Acrylic Sample, $10 14 of 35 Kelly Green Verdant and fresh, there's a reason green works in every room. Pick between lime, pea, and clover for a nature-inspired space. If you aren't sure about covering the whole room in something so wild, just paint the trims and/or doors. In this energizing kitchen designed by Anna Spiro, the pops of high-gloss Kelly green do the trick. Shop a similar shade below:BUY NOW Benjamin Moore Peppermint Leaf, $80 15 of 35 Classic Gray Avoid ho-hum neutrals. These go-to basics feature a few surprises, like a smoky lavender, moss green, and chocolate brown. In this galley kitchen designed by Heidi Caillier, the smoky paint brings some polish and formality. Shop a similar shade below:BUY NOW Farrow & Ball Plummett, $110 16 of 35 Marigold Even kitchens can have a little fun—every color of the rainbow is fair game. We love this goldenrod yellow that picks up on some of the colors in the wallpaper of this Rita Konig-designed kitchen. Shop a similar shade below:BUY NOW Farrow & Ball Dutch Orange, $110 17 of 35 Rich Green A vivid green scheme instantly commands attention, making it the perfect choice for a kitchen conceived for entertaining. Take note of this one designed by SuzAnn Kletzien. The cabinets, crown and base moldings, and window trim are all painted in Benjamin Moore's Hunter Green in a satin finish. "It's a very appetizing color," Kletzien says. BUY NOW Benjamin Moore Hunter Green 2041-10, $47 18 of 35 Bright Orange Don't neglect your pantry—it could use a fresh coat of paint, too. Consider covering exposed shelving in a bright orange hue for an unexpected and playful pop in a room that's often fairly dull. In this pantry, Pulp Design Studio used Sherwin-Williams Daredevil in a satin finish. BUY NOW Sherwin-Williams Daredevil 6882, $71 19 of 35 Royal Blue In a formal dining room, choose something regal, like a deep royal blue. In this space by Cameron Ruppert Interiors, the glossy, luxe paint dresses up the bohemian upholstery and light area rug for approachable fine dining. Shop a similar shade below:BUY NOW Fine Paints of Europe Hollandac Brilliant (Price Upon Request) 20 of 35 Burnt Orange In a casual apartment dining nook designed by Emil Dervish, a pop of burnt orange spices up the entire area. The deep red and brown undertones keep things edgy and streamlined but make it just a touch more cheerful. The steel blue sconce adds a quirky touch while the concrete planter stays in line with the industrial vibe.Shop a similar shade below:BUY NOW Benjamin Moore Ravishing Red, $80 21 of 35 Dusty Purple Though purple and black don't seem like the most obvious pair for a grownup, calming bedroom, they actually work together brilliantly here. Kingston Lafferty Design accentuated the purple details in the shelf and bedding with a dusty, gray purple tone and then played up the cooler undertones with sharper black metal accents. Shop a similar shade below: BUY NOW Benjamin Moore Raspberry Ice, $47 22 of 35 High Gloss Red Moldings Only the moldings are painted in this bedroom designed by Anna Spiro while the rest of the surfaces are covered in texture-rich materials, from the floral wallpaper to the sisal carpeting. Spiro opted for a higher sheen of this red hue to make the architectural details pop even more (and also because the higher the sheen, the easier to clean!). BUY NOW Rust-Oleum International Harvester, $98 23 of 35 Cocoa With slightly less of the red clay undertone than other popular brown paint colors, this one is more calming than it is energizing. Designer Fiona Lynch felt it was perfect for a bedroom. She used Rich Biscuit by Dulux and then mixed in some offbeat accents for an eclectic elegance.BUY NOW Dulux Rich Biscuit Sample, $6 24 of 35 Dusty Pink If you love the romantic, sweet qualities of light pink but don't want it to be too saturated, opt for a nice dusty rose. This one has a mysterious smokiness to it that's softened by the whimsical accents. "Exuberantly feminine, yet resolutely chic" was designer Jonathan Berger's motto for decorating this Brooklyn townhouse. Berger found the Suzani on eBay, while and the curvy Venetian-inspired headboard is covered in Nouvelle Orleans, a cut velvet from Clarence House. Shop a similar shade below:BUY NOW Farrow & Ball Sulking Room Pink, $110 25 of 35 Deep Eggplant In this modern yet retro bedroom designed by Atelier ND, the walls are painted in Pontefract by Paint & Paper Library for a bold and rich mood. The immersive and unique hue defies definition (but if we had to try, we'd say it's a purplish-reddish black)—which is one of the many reasons the design team chose it. Even the radiator becomes cool when painted in it! The pendants were sourced from an old church and wall-to-wall carpeting never looked better. BUY NOW Paint & Paper Library Pontefract $42 26 of 35 Dark Army Green David Frazier connected this New York City apartment bedroom to nature but also ensured that it didn't look out of place thanks to the Studio Green Farrow & Ball paint, antique furniture, and crisp bedding. Color aside, the texture-rich finish elevates the walls even further. "We wanted to showcase the movement in the plaster, so we had the walls painted in a satin finish it gives a certain depth that we wouldn't have been able to achieve with a flat paint."BUY NOW Farrow & Ball Studio Green, $115 27 of 35 Bright Turquoise With the right bedroom, even the most stressful days can melt away as you get ready for bed. A cheerful bright blue like this one in a space by Ana Spiro makes it hard not to smile. The fun floral and leopard-print pillows help, too. Shop a similar shade below:BUY NOW Farrow & Ball St. Giles Blue, $110 28 of 35 Bubblegum Pink Too outrageous? No such thing. Bright bubblegum pink is a fearless choice. In this bedroom by Anna Spiro, it asserts a youthful spirit to balance out the traditional pieces, like the dresser and tight floral patterns. Shop a similar shade below:BUY NOW Benjamin Moore Deep Carnation, $47 29 of 35 Coral Nothing quite radiates like joy like coral (as far as paint colors are concerned, at least). In this bedroom by Nicky Kehoe, it picks up the bright tones featured in the gallery wall while the trimming, which is a darker gray color, reflects the cooler neutrals in the bedding and accents. Under direct light, it appears brighter, while it mimics the more muted shade of terra cotta in dimmer or less direct light. Shop this shade below:BUY NOW Farrow & Ball Red Earth, $110 30 of 35 Steel Blue Make sure your room looks its best ever by choosing flattering shades. Yes, that's really a thing. Spoiler: It's usually an adventurous or unexpected neutral. In this bathroom, design studio Arent & Pyke opted for a steel gray. Shop a similar shade below:BUY NOW Farrow & Ball Down Pipe, $110
